Cet amour. Mi amour. Cet mi amour.

We all know the intimidation that arises with flirtation,

The fire behind desire.

Entangling, almost strangling, you in every word said and action done.

The chill felt from the thrill of what's simply yours, what's simply amour.

Cet amour. Mi amour. Cet mi amour.

The excitement from this certain affair makes you feel—like you are the only ones there.

The unapologetic passion to devour one's amour
in an intimacy far past physical touch.

I know this may sound a bit much,
but it's notal that this amour is spoken as such.

Cet amour. Mi amour. Cet mi amour.
